I shall aim therefore to make it the interest of all in want of the above goods, to buy at the regular Carpet and Oil Cloth Store. ☞Dealers can buy of me by the roll at wholesale prices. ap13'69 JAMES A. BROWN.

THE ÆTNA STILL AHEAD. IT has been tried and has never failed to give satisfaction to the purchaser. Farmers will find it to their advantage to call on the subscriber during the fall court and examine the above machine. It will be on exhibition at the Court House in Huntingdon during the two weeks of court. It is a combined Machine; can be changed from a Mower to a Reaper in a few moments; can be worked with a side or end draft, it being higher geared than other machines and the draft being reduced to the lowest minimum point. Reaping and Mowing with the Ætna is no harder on the team than plowing oats and stubble. It is believed by all who have tried it that it is the machine best adapted to the wants of the farmers in this county. It has no side draft and no weight on the horses' necks. We will also have one of the Wood Reapers and Mowers on the ground at the same time. Farmers intending to purchase machines this season will do well to examine the above machines before purchasing elsewhere. All you want is to examine the Ætna to enable you to make up your mind what machine to buy. I am the authorized agent of Messrs. Wharton & Maguire for the above machines, also for the Willoughby Guss spring Drill. I will also have one of the famous Harpoon Hay-forks on hand, which every farmer should examine whether he needs a fork or not. Every farmer should have one. They are the best in the market. No farmer that tries one could be induced to purchase any other kind. I have the exclusive right of this county. Wharton & Maguire are my agents for the sale of the above Hay Fork. Any other person selling the above Fork in Huntingdon county will be dealt with according to law in such cases. Don't forget where to call. At Wharton & Maguire's, or at the Court House during court week. THOMAS W. MONTGOMERY, ap5-2m Neff's Mills, Hunt. co., Pa.

IF WE KNEW.

If we knew the woe and heartache
Waiting for us down the road,
If our lips could taste the wormwood,
If our backs could feel the load,
Would we waste the day in wishing
For a time that no'er can be;
Would we wait in such impatience
For our ships to come from sea.

If we knew the baby fingers
Pressed against the window pane,
Would be cold, and stiff to-morrow—
Never trouble us again—
Would the bright eyes of our darling
Catch the frown upon our brow;
Would the print of rosy fingers
Vex us then as they do now?

Ah, these little ice-cold fingers,
How they point our memories back
To the hasty word and actions
Strewn along our backward track!
How these little hands remind us,
As in snowy grace they lie,
Not to scatter thorns—but roses—
For our reaping by and by.

Strange we never prize the music
Till the sweet-voiced bird has flown;
Strange that we should slight the violets
Till the lovely flowers are gone;
Strange that summer skies and sunshine
Never seem one-half so fair
As when Winter's snowy pinions
Shake their white down in the air!

Lips from which the seal of silence
None out God can roll away,
Never blossomed in such beauty
As adorns the mouth to-day;
And sweet words that freight our memory
With their beautiful perfume,
Come to us in sweeter accents,
Through the portals of the tomb.

Let us gather up the sunbeams
Lying all around our path;
Let us keep the wheat and roses,
Casting out the thorns and chaff;
Let us find our sweetest comfort
In the blessings of to-day,
With a patient hand removing
All the briars from our way.

The Office Seeker.

The following is from an old story, by J. K. Paulding, the novelist, and first went the rounds of the press about thirty years ago. It represents a conversation between a member of the Cabinet and a hanger-on for office, and is very suitable for the present time: The Secretary was called from his bed one cold winter morning to attend to business of the "utmost importance." He found a queer, long-sided man, at least six feet high, with a little apple head, a long queue, and a face critically round, as rosy as a ripe cherry, and the following conversation ensued: "Well, my friend, what situation do you wish?"

"Why, any; I'm not very particular; but somehow or other, I think I should like to be a Minister. I don't mean a minister of the Gospel, but one of them Ministers to foreign parts."

"I'm very sorry, very sorry indeed, there is no vacancy just now. Would not some other place suit you?"

"Why-y-y," answered the apple-headed man, "I wouldn't much care if I took a situation in one of the departments. I wouldn't mind being a Comptroller, Auditor or something."

"My dear sir, I'm sorry, very sorry indeed, but it happens, unfortunately, that all these situations are at present filled. Would not you take something else?"

My friend stroked his chin, and seemed struggling to bring down the soarings of his high ambition to the present crisis. At length, he answered: "Why-y-y, yes; don't care if I get a good Collectorship, or Inspectorship, or Surveyorship, or Naval Agency, or Postal Agency, or anything of that sort."

"Really, my good sir," said the Secretary, "I regret exceedingly that not only all these places, but every other place of consequence in the Government is at present occupied. Pray think of something else."

He then, after some hesitation, asked for a clerkship, and finally the place of messenger to one of the public offices. Finding no vacancies here, he seemed in vast perplexity, and looked all around the room, fixing his eye at length on me, and measuring my height from head to foot. At last, putting on one of the drollest looks that ever adorned the face of man, he said: "Mister, you and I seem to be built pretty much alike; haven't you some old clothes you can spare?"

SLEEPING TOGETHER.—The Laws of Life says: "More quarrels arise between brothers, between sisters, between hired girls, between clerks in stores, between apprentices in mechanic shops, between hired men, between husbands and wives, owing to electrical changes through which their nervous systems go by lodging together night after night under the same bed clothes, than by almost any other disturbing cause. There is nothing that will so derange the nervous system of a person who is eliminative in nervous force as to lie all night in bed with another person who is absorbent in nervous force. The absorber will go to sleep and rest all night while the eliminator will be tumbling and tossing, restless and nervous, and wake up in the morning fretful, peevish, fault finding and discouraged.—No two persons, no matter who they are, should habitually sleep together. One will thrive and the other will lose. This is the law, and in married life it is defied almost universally."

☞Six things are requisite to create "a happy home." Integrity must be the architect and tidiness the upholster. It must be warmed by affection and lighted up with cheerfulness, and industry must be the ventilator, renewing the atmosphere and bringing in fresh salubrity day by day, while over all, as a protecting glory and canopy, nothing will suffice except the glory of God.

Local News.

The following excellent suggestions on "local news" we copy from an exchange hoping that our two thousand readers will profit thereby.

"It is the wish of all editors to give in their columns as much of the local events of their town or county as they possibly can. No matter how trivial an event may appear when it occurred it becomes news when it is put in print, and reaches through the news columns of a daily or weekly paper a distant reader. Newspapers are printed to give people just such information as these trivial events furnish. In so doing, they serve to refute many false reports which gain currency. It is true that—sometimes by carelessness, sometimes by willfulness—errors do get into print. But when a responsible person sends to a judicious editor news, it is generally reliable. And there are hundreds of persons in the vicinity, and in other counties and distant States, who take a paper solely for its details of home affairs. They long for its coming—scan its columns eagerly—grumble and complain bitterly if it does not have the local news they had a right to expect, and-yet not once in twenty years do they ever send a single fact to aid him in filling his sheet. Housed up in the winter, at work, or some way busy every day the year round it is very handy to get hold of current events in this way. But for the lack of persons to send in the facts, important events transpire, well enough known in a limited circle, but which those outside remain in ignorance of, often to their disappointment. You hear a friend living some distance away, has deceased. You have business, or social, or personal reasons for desiring to know the truth of the report of the death, to shape affairs accordingly. The newspaper comes—it has the death of several persons, but not of that one. You hope it was a mistake—the wrong name, the wrong place, or something else. You hear the report from another source. Troubled about it, you write a letter, or make a journey, and learn to your surprise and regret, and damage, perhaps, that it is true. A letter to the editor, costing three cents, would have apprised you and all others of the fact, a week afterwards, saving much trouble to various persons. It is obvious that editors cannot station a man in every neighborhood to send in news, nor (with all their wisdom) can they guess deaths, marriages, or accidents, (or the weight of new born calves) all over the circle of the patronage. Persons in the vicinity must take pains, promptly, to send to the editor the plain facts, which can be shaped into proper form in that office. "Everybody's business is nobody's." The clergyman officiating at a funeral, the undertaker, or some of the family, should have enough respect to the dead to announce their decease—not only because the fact is of mournful interest, but so that people generally can extend proper sympathy to the survivors, and regulate private or public matters that may require attention. If the administrator of a marriage ceremony does not finish his work by proper publication, and the groom is not proud enough of his bride to do it, she should be spunky enough, and have enough self respect, to do it herself, if it takes her wedding-ring and all his watch-guards. And so of all the variety of matters of which the public have a right to be informed, and which really interest them—some one (generally those most concerned) must forward the facts before they can get into type. If our country friends—some one or two in each township—would lay these suggestions up in their "tablets of memory," and drop us a line weekly from their respective neighborhoods, detailing all the gossip and facts they hear, we would be able to give them the best local paper in the county. It is not necessary for them to write elaborately, or put in shape for publication. Give us the facts, and we can prepare them for the press.

☞Taking out your watch during a sermon is no small exploit. There are many advantages arising from it. In the first place, it will be known that a man has a watch. In the second place, he will show that the sermon has not much affected him. Thirdly it will be a modest hint to the minister that he has preached long enough, and should bring the sermon to a close. Fourthly, it will take up a portion of the time and attention, so that a part of the sermon, certainly, if not the whole, will pass by the man as the idle wind, and be lost. Fifthly, it will show what estimate the man puts on the message of grace. Sixthly, it will abstract the notice of others around, and turn away their attention from the message in like manner. Seventhly, it is an act very much in harmony with a passage of the Scripture: "When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn; and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat?"—Amos, viii, 1.

☞Modesty is not only an ornament, but also a guard to virtue. It is a kind of quick and delicate feeling into the soul, which makes her shrink and withdraw herself from everything that has danger in it. It is such an exquisite sensibility, as warns her to shun the first appearance of everything which is hurtful.

INDIAN FASHION.—A Western exchange giving something important to its lady readers interested in the prevailing fashions, states that at a frontier ball recently a noted Indian belle appeared in a hoop skirt, ornamented with fox tails, and waist of yellow flannel, slashed with stripes of buffalo hide.

[Written for the Globe.]

The Moral Telescope.

O, what a kingdom is that of Messiah, differing as it does from the kingdoms of the earth. It differs from them in extent; theirs were all bounded by geographical limits, His is a universal kingdom, extending from the rising to the setting sun; theirs were in the hands of conflicting powers, each laboring to encroach upon the other, His is a perfect unity of purpose; theirs are fleeting and transitory, "His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and of His dominion there shall be no end." Theirs were prompted by a lust for power, and they conquered by the sword; they had their Xerxes, their Alaric, their Tamerlane, their Genges Khan, their Moguls, their Neros and Cæsars, their Mahomets and their Napoleons, who for successive ages drenched the fairest fields of Asia and Europe with human blood, in order to sate their hellish appetite for power. But the kingdom of the Prince of peace has for its bases the eternal perfections of God; "righteousness and judgment are the habitation of His throne;" "all the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth."

They differ in their subjects. Theirs were exposed to fear, enmity, hatred, and wretchedness, from the throne to the beggar's miserable hut. His is benevolence, love, long suffering, gentleness and goodness, from the throne to the poorest subject of His kingdom. And now as King Emanuel is enthroned in the central heavens, holding in His hands the reins of universal government, both in the natural and moral universe, all the perfections of the God-head are pledged for the perfection and consummation of His glorious kingdom. All the works of God in the kingdom of nature subserve it; rain, hail and snow, storms, tempests, earthquakes, and the thunders of heaven are made tributary to it. As the kingdom of Providence from the highest archangel down to the infusoria is in His hands, all are made tributary to His kingdom of grace, where He reigns invisibly, but with omnipotence, sweetly and powerfully converting and subduing all the faculties of the human soul, agreeably to the laws of mind; and as His "council shall stand and He shall do all His pleasure." He will school the subjects of His kingdom of grace, till they are properly prepared to be taken home to the kingdom of glory, that kingdom which He purchased with His own blood on Calvary.

Is it any wonder then that such a Prince, clothed with all the bright panoply of heaven with infinite power to subdue, with unbounded goodness, love and mercy, and every conceivable perfection, should lure subjects from the power of earthly tyrants into His kingdom, not by coercion, not by violence, but by an irresistible, silent and sweet influence, falling upon the hearts as dew upon the mown grass. Accordingly we see that the King has issued the laws and regulations of His kingdom, and that they are now translated into nearly two hundred languages and dialects, to accommodate the dispersed Babel builders of earth. He has issued from the throne countless commissions to officers and ambassadors to go into all the world to negotiate peace between an offended God and a revolted province of His vast empire. We find that the few beams of oriental gospel light which were thrown into Europe amongst our cruel and barbarous Anglo-Saxon and Teutonic ancestors, in due time kindled up countless luminous centres, whence divergent and ceaseless waves of influence are multiplying, wave meeting wave, till in general accord their light and heat are permeating the moral darkness which had so long brooded over the benighted nations of earth.

We have seen those very Goths, Huns and Vandals, who like clouds of locusts from the north invaded Europe, breaking down the last vestiges of Roman power and grandeur, destroying the finest monuments of art and laying waste the fairest fields of Europe, now joining with those with whom they mingled, in sending the ambassadors of the Prince of peace into the dark places of the earth, "now filled with the habitations of cruelty," and sending hundreds of millions to extend the boundaries of Messiah's kingdom upon earth. We have seen the gospel freely proclaimed in India, once the theatre of Mongolian tyranny. We have seen the laws, language and principles of Emanuel's kingdom, carried by officers of his own household, and disseminated from Greenland to New South Wales, to Van Dieman's Land and the distant islands of the sea, rolling back the portentous clouds of moral darkness, and presenting the lost sons and daughters of Adam with light and better principles.

We have seen that a few individuals who had tasted the good word of life, fled from the tyranny of the old world, with their frail barque plunged into the Atlantic ocean to be tossed for months upon the billows of the great deep, to be cast upon the inhospitable shore of North America, then a vast wilderness, only inhabited by beasts of prey and a few tribes of wandering savages, and all for the liberty of free citizenship in Emanuel's kingdom.—We have seen that this select seed has grown into the most powerful nation upon earth, numbering her subjects by millions, with glorious anticipations of putting down the whole brood of earth's tyrants, and conquering universal peace under the great Captain of their salvation, and that with their only legitimate weapons, which is the word and spirit of their God.

We have seen that, not by coercion nor by violence, but by an invisible power from the throne, rebels are by the most gentle, sweet and silent constraint drawn by thousands and millions out of the enemy's ranks and have joyfully entered into the kingdom of grace, and are delightfully employed in preparation for the kingdom of glory. We now see this work so progressive as to be a sure earnest of final and perfect victory, when Jesus Christ shall reign universal King in heaven and earth.

We have only to glance at ancient or modern history to discover the fallacy of unaided reason to direct the lost sons and daughters of Adam into the paths of either truth or happiness. But on the contrary we have seen that many an oasis has been opened in the moral wastes of earth, so watered by divine truth, as to yield the joyful and peaceable fruit of righteousness to all the inhabitants; and we have seen here and there in the midst of moral darkness, a spot of moral verdure, made such by our Bible, upon which the eye loves to linger, when human philosophy had labored in vain for thousands of years.

But our telescope is not only retrospective—it has also prospective powers; and now let us turn it upon the dark vista of the future, which has ever defied the unassisted human eye.

But here, time and space and power would fail, to describe the ecstasy of patriarchs, prophets and apostles, when with this wondrous lens at their eyes looking into the distant and glorious future, they beheld the extent, the peace and the glory of the Redeemer's kingdom upon earth, its perfect triumph when the Son of man shall come the second time in the clouds with great glory to judgment, when His kingdom of grace shall be perfected in His eternal kingdom of glory—with a description or a sight of the final dissolution of all things as they now exist, with the crash of nature, the cessation of time, and the glorious city of the great King where He will reign with His saints for evermore. Because of the poverty of earth's language, our inspired writers burst out in ecstatic songs of praise clothed in the most gorgeous imagery, and uttered in the most sublime strains ever heard on earth since the morning stars sang together and the sons of God shouted for joy.

The Apostles' Creed.

The precise origin of this simplest and most ancient of all creeds is involved in some uncertainty, and has long been a matter of dispute among learned theologians. It is at least certain that its universal use in the church may be traced back, if not to the apostolic age itself, yet to that immediately succeeding; and there is a very old tradition that each of the twelve articles of the creed was composed by an apostolic author.

It is said the twelve assembled in council before dispersing themselves to preach the Gospel throughout the world, to frame the symbol or watchword of the Christian Church, and it will be interesting to our readers to know the apostle to whom each article is ascribed. The tradition is as follows:

"St. Peter—"I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth:"

St. Andrew—"And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord:"

St. James the Great—"Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, Born of the Virgin Mary:"

St. John—"Suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried:"

St. Thomas—"He descended into hell;" [or, "He went into the place of departed spirits," which are considered as words of the same meaning,] "the third day he rose from the dead:"

St. James the Less—"He ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty:"

St. Philip—"From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead:"

St. Bartholomew—"I believe in the Holy Ghost:"

St. Matthew—"The Holy Catholic Church, the Communion of Saints:"

St. Simon—"The Forgiveness of Sins:"

St. Judas Thaddeus—"The Resurrection of the Body:"

St. Matthias—"And the Life everlasting—Amen:"

☞Daniel Webster once paid the following beautiful tribute to woman: "May it please your honors, there is nothing upon this earth that can compare with the faithful attachment of a wife; no creature who for the object of her love is so indomitable, so persevering, so ready to suffer and to die. Under the most depressing circumstances, woman's weakness becomes mighty power, her timidity becomes fearless courage, all her shrinking and sinking passes away, and her spirit acquires the firmness of marble—adamantine firmness—when circumstances drive her to put forth all her energies under the inspiration of her affections."

MARRYING RICH.—Amos Lawrence, the distinguished Boston merchant, was an advocate of early marriages, but was strenuously opposed to any man marrying a fortune. Speaking of a desirable match for a friend, he said: "My only objection to her is that she has a few thousand dollars in cash. This, however, might be remedied; for, after purchasing a house, the balance might be given to near connections, or to some public institution." If some people would look through Amos Lawrence's lenses, the world would be far happier.

☞A wag says: "It is folly to expect a young girl to love a man whom everybody speaks well of. Get up a persecution, and her affections will cling so fast that a dozen guardians can't remove them."

OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

[Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention.]

To Our Friends and Patrons.

Until we give notice to the contrary, we will issue to all paying us money on subscription to Globe, advertising, job work and old store bills, chance checks for presents in our Enterprise. Now is the time to subscribe, advertise, have your bills, etc., printed, and for all indebted to us to pay up.

☞R. W. Mackey, of Pittsburg, the new State Treasurer, was sworn in and entered upon the discharge of his duties on the 3d inst.

☞On the 3d inst., municipal elections were held at Stockton, California, and Virginia, and Gold Hill, Nevada, in all of which the Republicans were successful.

☞The Washington Mount Vernon Estate is advertised for sale in the Alexandria (Va.) Gazette. It will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 10th of June.

☞Since the inauguration of Gen. Grant, the public debt has been reduced over $10,000,000. The May statement shows a reduction of $6,399,070, since the first of April. It cannot be expected, however, that the present favorable exhibit can be repeated every month.

☞General J. F. Hartranft, Auditor General and Jacob M. Campbell, Surveyor General, were sworn in for a second term of three years on the 4th inst. During the past three years they proved to be able, faithful and popular public officers, which is a sure guarantee of what may be expected of them for the three years to come.

☞Large and enthusiastic meetings have been held in Philadelphia, New York and other large cities, to sympathize with the Cuban Patriots, who are struggling for freedom—that freedom for which our forefathers fought. We heartily wish them God speed in their efforts to cast off the yoke with which Spanish tyranny has held them since 1823.

THE LAST TIE OF THE CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD.—A dispatch from San Francisco, on the 4th inst., says that a railway tie of polished California laurel, mounted on either end with solid silver, accompanied by a spike of solid gold, costing $200, was forwarded from that place to the end of the Central Pacific Railroad. It is the last tie, and was laid by Leland Sanford on Saturday last, thus completing the Pacific Railroad.

☞A General Railroad Convention to be composed of Delegates from New York, Maryland, Washington City, and the counties of Blair, Huntingdon, Centre, McKean, Cameron, and Elk, in this State, favorable to the St. Mary's route for the Buffalo and Washington railroad, will be held in the borough of St. Mary's, on Wednesday, May the 12th, 1869. The citizens along the route of this proposed road are requested to send delegates. Prominent railroad men from all parts of the country are expected, and a grand time is anticipated.

☞Some months ago, we heard of the breakdown of the Charleston Mercury, which, since its revival after the war, had attempted to advocate opinions of State Rights somewhat similar to those it advocated with fatal force before the war. Now, we hear from Richmond of the breakdown of the Southern Opinion, another paper of somewhat similar stripe—a paper, in fact, which represented the "Lost Cause." In its last issue it mournfully announces that its mission has been fulfilled—that "Southern principles," to wit, Secession principles, are dead in the Southern heart, and that no cause can long outlive its defeat on the battle field. It is an excellent sign for the prosperity and future welfare of the Southern people that these sectional and malignant journals are passing into the bottomless pit.

☞The Mexican Government is very anxious to borrow or otherwise get hold of a little money to meet its expenses, and is willing to resort to any expedient for that purpose. For its benefit, we will mention one expedient that would be more effective than any other. It should show some disposition to pay the debts it already owes. It should show some willingness to recognize those debts. It should make some attempts to secure their settlement in an honorable manner. The main reason it cannot borrow plenty of money in Europe is that it will not take any step in either of these directions. If it would, there would not be the slightest difficulty in borrowing hundreds of millions. Honesty is the basis of credit;—honor is the soul of a nation's financial power.

Training the Children.

The children of the present day learn too much, is a common expression and yet it is not so common but what its truth is just as forcible. Parents have as their first object the making something of their child, and in order to attain that object they send them to school very young, and are only too glad when they hear their child is progressing rapidly, and are happy to see the little one lugging home a pile of books of deep research and difficult mathematical problems. They never for a moment think that their child is cramming its mind and applying itself so closely to books that it is undermining its constitution and unfitting it for the sterner realities of life, which arise as storms on the ocean. They love to see their child "smart," when they should know that that smartness is often gained at the sacrifice of health, and often is when gained the source of much annoyance. A child that has been lauded for its smartness will eventually think himself too smart to be anything else than a lawyer, a doctor, or some other professional man. It is this that we deprecate. We earnestly advocate the education of the young, but we seriously condemn the practice of putting "old heads on young shoulders." Let the children be children. Who does not love to see the laughing, rosy-cheeked, romping boy or girl, who is eager for youthful sports; but where is the child, who is taught by its parents that it looks "too childish" for it to indulge in such games, who has the heart to disregard the wish of its parents to "make something" of him or her?

The children lose nothing by being allowed a little freedom. It is the restraint inflicted by parents that is spoiling them. We cannot look upon a child that acts like a person of older growth without a feeling of pain that its childish nature is not permitted freer scope; and we sometimes think that it is a jump that they have been forced to make while young that they will feel the more like making backwards when they grow old and should "put away childish things." It is true that all children have not the same natures, but it is equally true that all children cannot be smart, and it is more to advise parents against the practice of compelling their child to be "smart" when it is not in it, that we have referred to the subject.

Rebel Nastiness.

We read pro-rebel newspapers only to find them teeming with the vilest, most abusive and indecent slang that can possibly be conceived in the most fertile of rebel brains. We were never good at billingsgate, and we are thankful that we are not, for it must be shocking to sensitive and refined tastes to read the vituperation daily and weekly spread broadcast over the country by Democratic editors. We do not envy their skill in such things. By it they hope to mould public opinion in their favor. By it they hope to once more seize the reins of Government and run it to the disgust of all decent people. By pandering to the morbid tastes of the low and ignorant, the pro-rebel party hope to delude enough to carry them through. Can anything be more sickening to any people than such trash as is daily hashed up by our Democratic cotemporaries, only because the Union party saved the country from destruction and wrenched the power from the aristocratic Southern slave driver, and is now mooring it safely into still waters? We would rather go under than poison the minds of the young and rising generation, who will soon be called upon to take our places in the management of the best government man ever devised. In God's name, let the Democratic orators and editors become purified and washed of their nastiness.

☞There is now in the Treasury of the United States $108,000,000 of coin; of which $92,000,000 is the property of the Government. At the present rate of receipts the customs duties yield about $68,000,000 per annum more than the interest on the public debt, and the expenses of the diplomatic and consular service. The gold in the Treasury, therefore, accumulates at the rate of $1,300,000 per week, when no sales are made.

☞The English Tories are holding meetings to protest against the Irish Disestablishment bill, and to demand its rejection by the House of Lords. But the Tories were overwhelmingly beaten at the Parliamentary elections, and it is useless for them now to attempt to bolster up the "Lost Cause." Even the Lords cannot save them, but must submit to the demands of the people.

Witchcraft persecutions are being revived in Mexico. Women are shot, hanged and burned to death on suspicion, or flogged until they confess, their own children taking part in the infliction of the torture.

☞The President has appointed E. M. Gregory, United States Marshal of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, in place of Gen. Eby, who died very suddenly a few days ago, caused by the bursting of a blood-vessel.

☞Secretary Boutwell has ordered the Assistant Treasurer at New York to buy $1,000,000 worth of bonds weekly until further orders.

The Pacific Railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The Pacific Railroad celebration to-day was one to be remembered for all time in San Francisco. The day was ushered in by a saluto of one hundred guns.—At noon all the federal forts in that harbor fired a salute, the bells in the city were set ringing, and the steam whistles screaming. At night the whole city was illuminated and presented a brilliant appearance. The procession was the largest ever witnessed in San Francisco. The people were willing and eager to observe the event as of so much importance to this city and the Pacific coast, and turned out en masse. Business generally was suspended, and nearly every citizen exhibited a hearty interest in the demonstration. The military and civic display was grand. In addition to the State militia, all the available United States troops from the several forts and Presidio participated in the occasion, while the civic societies turned out with full ranks. The city and harbor presented a magnificent sight during the day, the principal streets being draped with banners of every nation, thronged with excited, joyous people, the shipping dressed in fine style. A dispatch from the junction of the roads announcing the driving of the last spike of the Central Pacific Road at 10 a. m., sent a thrill of joy through the city. Congratulatory messages were transmitted to the Directors of the Central Pacific and Union Pacific by the California pioneers.

CURE FOR THE BITE OF A MAD DOG.—Franklin Dyre, a highly respectable and intelligent farmer of Galena, Kent county, Maryland, gives the following as a sure cure for the bite of a mad dog. As will be seen, he has tested it with the most gratifying results:

"Elecampane is a plant well known to most persons, and is to be found in many of our gardens. Immediately after being bitten, take one and a half ounce of the root of the plant—the green root is perhaps preferable, but the dried will answer and may be found in our drug stores, and was used by me—slice or bruise, put into a pint of fresh milk, boil down to half a pint, strain, and when cold drink, fasting for at least six hours afterwards. The next morning, fasting, repeat the dose, using two ounces of the root. On the third morning take another dose, prepared as the last, and this will be sufficient. Is is recommended that after each dose nothing be eaten for at least six hours.

"I have a son who was bitten by a mad dog eighteen years ago, and four other children in the neighborhood were also bitten; they took the above dose, and are alive and well at this day. And I have known a number of others who were bitten that applied the same remedy.

"It is supposed that the root contains a principal which, being taken up by the blood in its circulation, counteracts or neutralizes the deadly effects of the virus of hydrophobia.

"I feel so much confidence in this simple remedy that I am willing you should give my name in connection with this statement."

A NEW VEHICLE.—The latest invention is an Indian rubber carriage.—The patent has been obtained, a company has been organized, and the first vehicle has been turned out, and is now on exhibition at an up-town manufactory. This use of vulcanized rubber promises to work a complete revolution in the manufacture and cost of carriages. The body, dash and seat are all made of rubber, at perhaps one-fifth of the cost of the long-seasoned, expensive wood usually employed. The rubber for the body of the carriage on exhibition costs only $10. It requires no painting and is so polished as to shine like a mirror. Three months' time of a competent workman, which are now frequently given for the polishing and finishing of a simple carriage is here superseded by the work of two or three hours, in which a beautiful surface is produced which does not soil by any amount of handling. The inventer is a Jerseyman, who has sold the patent to a company organized under the laws of this State, with a capital of $500,000. —New York Commercial Advertiser.

☞The Cubans in New York are very guarded and careful in their movements. They state they are surrounded and constantly watched by persons in the interest of the Spaniards, and they cannot, without seriously compromising their cause, make known even to their friends the extent of the aid they are affording the patriot army. The Spaniards are buying large quantities of arms and shipping them openly from New York. Why should not the Cubans be permitted the same advantage? It is certain that one or two steamers left with arms and men for the insurgents this week, but the fact that neither the detectives nor the reporters have been able to do much more than guess on the subject, shows that there is brains as well as good will behind the Cuban Junta in New York.

☞A recent instance proves that even on the stormy ocean, out of sight of the land which gave courage to Grace Darling, Ida Lewis, and Whittier's heroine of Long Point, woman may still be a heroine. A ship lately reached New York from Calcutta, having been all the long voyage over two stormy oceans, under the charge of a woman. Her husband, the captain, was sick all the voyage, and there was none to take his place but herself.—She took it. She made all the observations, kept the log book, was on the deck by day and by night, disciplined the sailors, nursed her husband and brought the ship safe to port. If any gentleman, who believes in the physical and mental inferiority of women, has a pipe large enough, let him put that in it, and see how it will smoke. Phila. Post.

The Charleston Courier calls attention to a noticeable feature in a recent firemen's parade in that city, which was the national colors borne at the head of the procession and escorted by a color-guard from the various companies, and remarks that its presence was a good indication of practical reconstruction.

The cost of collecting the Internal Revenue increases as the amount collected decreases. In 1866, when we had nearly $310,000,000 of this revenue, the cost of collection was only $7,790,000; but in 1867, when we only raised $263,000,000, it cost us $8,982,686, and 1868 it cost $8,327,301 to collect less than $89,000,000. To reduce the cost of collecting the revenue will be the endeavor of the present administration, and it will succeed.

CHEAP AND VALUABLE

VIRGINIA LANDS FOR SALE by

P. M. & M. S. Lytle.

The following is a description of two tracts of land which are hereby offered for sale:—

No. 1. THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT ACRES in Appomattox county, Virginia, midway between the south side Railroad and James River Canal, and about six miles from each, Appomattox depot being the nearest point on the railroad. About one half of the tract is cleared. The balance is in original and second growth of oak, pine and other timber. It has three settlements on it occupied by tenants, at one of which there is a new tobacco house and the usual out-houses, together with an apple orchard and peach and cherry trees. Produces all the usual crops, such as corn, oats, clover and other grasses, fruits, vegetables, vines, &c. One mile from post-office, stores, churches and shops. The title is indisputable. Price $6 per acre, and is offered at this very low price because the owner is settled in business at a distance from it and cannot attend to it, and especially because he needs the money in his present location. Purchase money one half in hand, balance in one year with interest.

No. 2. SEVENTY-FIVE ACRES (new land) on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, six miles from Lynchburg. Half in timber, which sells to railroad at $3 per cord on the place. Cars stop at it twice a day for wood, &c. One mile from regular depot. Has a young small orchard on it—seems particularly suited for fruits and vines. Price $1000, half cash, balance in one year with interest. There are several beautiful building sites on it.

It is well known that Virginia lands are now being sold at a sacrifice and the tracts above described are offered at unusually low prices. Persons desiring to buy or intending to go South for that purpose are requested to call on the undersigned and ascertain where the owner of these lands will be found.

Anecdote of Senator Scott.

We are glad to notice that President Grant has made a rule to receive no calls on the Sabbath, and has forbidden his Secretaries to bring him any letters or telegrams, except they are on important public business, in answer to something he has called for. In this connection, it may not be improper to give an incident that recently occurred in Washington equally creditable to Senator Scott, of Pennsylvania. One Sabbath morning a member of the Senate sent Mr. Scott a package of papers with notice that he would call in the evening to confer on the subject matter. Calling according to promise, the inquiry was made whether he had examined the papers sent to him Senator Scott, who is a ruling elder in the Presbyterian Church, promptly replied that he had not—that he had been accustomed to observe the Christian Sabbath, and did not propose to look at them till Monday morning—as this was Sabbath evening he expected as usual to go to church. And to church he went—Gettysburg Star.

☞ Some of our merchants never let a chance slip to inform the public when they receive a new lot of goods, and they do right. SHADE GAP, May, 6, 1869.

Dear Globe: After a short silence which I could not break for want of news, I drop you a line. Everything is beginning to look like Summer once more. The farmers are busily engaged in plowing up their ground for corn, every now and then casting a smile of satisfaction over their fields of wheat, which have such a healthy appearance. I never saw wheat look so promising as it does this Spring and if it yields at the threshing as it should from it present appearance, our farmers will have very little cause for grumbling about that crop. Fears were entertained by some of our farmers, that a great portion of it would be found frozen out, from the fact that we had last winter, some very hard freezing weather, when there was scarcely any snow upon the ground to protect it; but happily, such was not the case and our chances for a splendid crop of wheat never was better.

There is one thing I would like to say to the farmers of Huntingdon County, to the Lower End especially, which is this: Farm a little more upon scientific principles, than the majority of you now do.

Subscribe for some agricultural paper and try to get out of the old humdrum style of tilling the soil so much in vogue. Endeavor to find out what ingredients your soil lacks for raising this and that crop. There is not one farmer out of ten, who knows exactly what each of his fields need, neither do they observe properly the rotation of crops, sowing upon one field one kind of grain year after year, until it exhausts the ingredients requisite for feeding that kind of grain, until, it will raise it no more, then putting in another kind, and so on, till it will raise nothing but penny-royal or some other equally advantageous crop.

If some enterprising farmer, who has upon his farm plenty of limestone, would go into the lime-burning business in this township and burn enough to supply his neighbors it would not only remunerate him in a pecuniary point of view but be a Godsend and a blessing to some of these old ridge farms which are scattered so profusely along our valley and which are a source of revenue to the government but none whatever to their owners, and upon which kill deers have to carry knapsacks and break down annually the fences in their endeavors to evacuate the farms in the Spring of the year, not having the requisite amount of strength for flying.

The prospects for a good crop of fruit are good this year. Peaches especially will abound wherever there are any trees, unless Jack Frost nipes them in the blossom some of these cool nights.

Our Academy is flourishing this Summer, having the neat little number of fifty students in attendance, and the people round about may expect a good exhibition at the close of the term, which will be in July some time, and due notice of which will be given in this paper.

I was glad to hear of Mr. Tussey's re-election to the office of County Superintendent of our Common Schools and think he is eminently qualified to fill the office. QUIS.

☞ Fifty Engravings are given in the American Agriculturist for May which are not only pleasing to the eye, but many of them illustrate various devices and implements useful in the house, in the garden, and on the farm. Among them are eight splendid illustrations of some of the recent and valuable kinds of poultry recently introduced. These are drawn from life, and are so "perfect to a feather" as to make one fully acquainted with the several breeds shown. The Calendar of Work to be Done, and the practical hints thereon, is a valuable and seasonable feature of the number before us. The "Basket" contains nearly a hundred short, condensed, practical articles, including the usual scathing expose of Humbugs and Swindles, which has made the Agriculturist so useful to the country at large. Five leading breeds of improved Swine are shown to the life, with descriptions of their peculiarities. "Walks and Talks Upon the Farm" fill two pages with much information drawn from experience. Grafting is explained clearly in wood cuts and type. Practical Gardening is treated in the same manner. The Household Department and the Children's Columns are all well filled with useful and interesting information and illustrations. Altogether, this Journal is unequalled in the world for its great amount and variety of useful and pleasing information, and it should be in every house in the land. Terms: $1,50 a year, or four copies for $5. Single numbers, postpaid, 15 cents each. ORANGE JUDD & CO., Publishers, 245 Broadway, New York.

☞ Packard's Monthly for May comes to us as usual full of interesting reading matter. The table of contents is as follows: A chapter about Old Maids, Spasmodic Literature, Education as it should be, Hackmen the world over, The Song of the Anvil, Together (poem), Seeing snakes and getting to Heaven, An Appeal in behalf of animals, Women's Beauty, Domestic Infelicities and home discomfort, A Bachelor's View of Babies, and Sincerity. In the editorial department we have, Women above the salt, A foolish popular notion, Mark Twain's Vagaries, Thoughts as they occur, &c., &c. Published by S. S. Packard, 937 Broadway, N. Y. One dollar a year.

G. W. & C. B. Colton & Co., New York, have just published a Cuban War Map, showing Cuba on a scale sufficiently large to enable readers to follow the progress of the Revolution. Sent by mail for 50 cents.

☞ It is said the proprietors of the celebrated Plantation Bitters rent no less than nine pews from the different denominations in New York city for all those of their employees who will occupy them regularly, free of charge. This is certainly praiseworthy, and it is to be hoped that others who employ a large number of people, will follow the example. The above fact, accompanied with the belief that a firm who would look so closely after the morals and welfare of their employees, would not undertake to impose upon the public, has induced us to give the Plantation Bitters a trial, and having found them to be all that is represented, we cordially recommend them as a tonic of rare merit.—Observer, July 1st.

Huntingdon, May 1, 1869.

Looking Ahead.

We once fell in with a business man, and he was a person of wide experience, too, who said that, whatever might happen to him, he always looked sixty days ahead, rather than sixty days behind. This was sensible, and there was profound philosophy in it. For the habit of looking on the dark side of matters soon begets a despondent feeling in the heart, and disinclines a man to make any exertion at all. To look forward to better days, however, and to a turn of fortune for better time, is naturally calculated to inspire one with enthusiasm, to stimulate one with the new wine of hope. It makes all imaginable difference whether a man desponds or hopes. Hence when a blast of trouble comes, the true way is to turn your back upon it, to refuse to have anything to do with it, to forswear all connection with its threats or promises. Look ahead, and look up! what is gone is gone, and there is no help for it. Work for better fortunes, and the bad will desert you in absolute disgust at your unimpressibility.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BEAR IN MIND,

That MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS is skilfully compounded, free from injurious component parts, agreeable to the taste and destructive to disease. If you detect any change from the natural functions of your system, no matter how trivial, or where located, or if disease has already entrenched itself, the really true and reliable remedy in either case is Mishler's Herb Bitters. This assertion is based upon what we know it will do in relieving, curing and warding off disease. For want of space we cannot detail the diversified uses of this Bitters, but its general effects upon the human system are to purify the blood and secretions; correct morbid changes in the blood, equalize its circulation, enrich its constituents and regulate its supply; it imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ; overcomes all functional derangements; assists in the process of digestion; creates a healthy appetite; prevents and cures miasmatic and intermittent fevers, dyspepsia, liver complaint, nervous headache, kidney affections, and revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. ap14om

HURRYGRAPHS.

During the last Congress, the number of bills introduced in the House was two thousand, five hundred, and in the Senate nine hundred and eighty.

The oldest house in the United States retaining its original form is to be found in Neponset, Mass. It was built by John Minot about the year 1640, and is still in good repair.

There is a house in Chichester, N. H., known as the "Steel house," which is 130 years old. Mrs. Steel, is 84 years of age, is now living in a room of the house in which she was born.

Robert B. Randolph, who in 1832 was dismissed from the navy by President Jackson, and who pulled the General's nose in retaliation, recently died in Washington, aged seventy-eight years.

There is said to be over two hundred thousand thrashing machines in the United States. One of them was in a convention of editors recently held in Cairo, Ill., in the person of a bellicose delegate.

It is said that 700,000 persons are employed in Europe in getting coal out of the bowels of the earth. Of these 300,000 are in Great Britain, 120,000 in Belgium and France, 80,000 in Prussia, and the rest scattered over the other countries.

Vesuvius, according to the journals of Naples, has not returned to the quiet state which usually follows extensive eruptions. Columns of smoke are still rising from the craters and fissures. The lava is still warm, though no eruption has taken place for over a month.

An Association of about four hundred Bohemians in Chicago have sent a committee to Minnesota, in order to select a locality in that State for a settlement. The Association expect an increase of about six hundred persons from their native country during the Summer.

The English Parliament is investigating the Sunday sale of newspapers in the kingdom, and thinks of compelling the Sunday paper proprietors to publish on Saturday. Six thousand persons are employed in the traffic in London every Sunday.

The German astronomer Maedler has measured the hight of 1,093 mountains in the moon. Twenty-two of these are higher than Mont Blanc, which is within a few feet of being three miles high; six are above 19,000 feet. The highest observed mountain in the moon is 24,844 feet high.

Among the aristocratic equestrians in Hyde Park, London, recently, was a man dressed as a girl of the period, who rode on a saddle, and acted the part of a woman to perfection. The police took no notice of him, although he made his appearance daily for upward of a week.

A sporting man in Paris has opened an office for advising inexperienced young men in regard to so-called affairs of honor. He teaches them for 50 francs how to insult their adversaries in the most genteel manner, and how to resent affronts so as to render a duel inevitable. He instructs them also in all matters regarding duels and challenges. He is well patronized.

An editor in Hampshire says that the recent auroral display of Thursday evening, was as if "some celestial mercer had unrolled two or three dozen pieces of silk of the most beautiful tints of purple, green, blue, lilac, and white, gathered the ends into his hand at the zenith, and let them flow down to the horizon." The editor was formerly a dry-goods clerk, we presume.

Corry O'Lanus on Banks.

This astute philosopher enlightens the public with his bank experience. How his willingnsss to accommodate a friend led to his faith in banks being shaken, and his chequered career in this path, is told with charming simplicity:

Shakespeare says: "Put not your trust in banks." I don't put my trust in banks. Nor my cash either.

I always felt able to take care of all the money I got. And more too.

I don't see why I should trust banks—they never trusted me. I never asked them to, but to oblige a creditor of mine, who had singular hallucination on the subject of my financial standing, I let him try the value of my name on a check.

I owed him some money. The bill had been standing for some time; but he hadn't said anything to me about it, and I hadn't said anything to him, because I could afford to let it stand as long as he could, and if he hadn't revived the subject I shouldn't.

He did at last remind me of the fact, in a very polite note, stating that he had some engagements to meet.—That is the way with creditors, I find. They are always making engagements, and expecting their debtors to furnish the money.

But, as I said before, he was very polite about it, and merely said he would like to have my check for the amount. As he had accommodated me so long, I could hardly deny such a reasonable request. I sent him a polite answer, requesting him to nominate the bank on which he would prefer to have the check drawn.

He said he would leave it to me, whatever bank; my credit was just as good at one bank as at another.

I finally sent him a check on the Wallabout National bank for the amount.

Naturally, I felt some interest in learning how my creditor made out at the bank. He came to me in a more excited state than I had seen him in before.

"Sir," said he, "your check is not worth anything."

"I am sorry to hear it," said I, "though it is not entirely unexpected."

"But why did you give me your check when you had no money in the bank?" said he.

Because you said you would like to have my check, and when a man makes a reasonable request I like to accommodate him, if I can."

I have had no faith in banks since then.

THE

HOWE Sewing Machines

ARE THE

Oldest Established of any in the World.
Over 50,000 Sold in 1868.

These unequaled machines are adapted to every variety of sewing for family wear, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Linen Goods, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed. Over 50,000 of these unrivalled machines were manufactured and SOLD during the year 1868. This is unprecedented in the history of sewing machines, and is another proof of the great popularity of the Howe Machine.

They have invariably won the highest honors at the great Exhibitions of the world, culminating at the late Exposition Universelle at Paris, where was awarded for THE HOWE MACHINE—the Imperial Prize; the Cross of the Legion of Honor; a Gold Medal, the highest prize within the gift of the Jury, being the result of its EVIDENT EXCELLENCE.

Our interest not being second to that of purchasers of machines, in their successful operation, we hold ourselves in readiness to render any necessary and practicable assistance, by correspondence or otherwise, for this purpose, and for faithfulness in this respect, reference is made to the tens of thousands now using these machines.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR,

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries. No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travellers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.
